

Oli Armstrong

From: Pete Wilcox <ppetewilcox@outlook.com>
Sent: 07 September 2022 09:06
To: Peter Gallagher; lcampisano@cllr.wroughton.gov.uk; j.lewis19@btinternet.com; brianphillipsesq@gmail.com
Cc: Emma Freemantle; beverley.margerison@gmail.com margerison
Subject: RE: Ramblers priorities for Liz Truss

Hi Peter

What A great document, Thanks to the Ramblers

We should encourage the Parish Council to support it.

A letter to our MP to put it in front of the relevant minister would be a start.

Within our own boundaries we must use as a template to actively put some of its points into practice.

Regards Pete Wilcox

Sent from Mail for Windows

From: Peter Gallagher
Sent: 06 September 2022 19:57
To: lcampisano@cllr.wroughton.gov.uk; ppetewilcox@outlook.com; j.lewis19@btinternet.com; brianphillipsesq@gmail.com
Subject: Ramblers priorities for Liz Truss

Hi All

In view of the discussion at yesterday's meeting on one of the points raised by Pete, this may be of interest.

Peter

From: James at the Ramblers <campaigns@ramblers.org.uk>
Sent: 06 September 2022 17:00
To: Peter <peg.456@virgin.net>
Subject: Our priorities for Liz Truss

View this email in your browser

Our priorities for the new Prime Minister

Hello Peter

The UK has a new Prime Minister. Liz Truss.

Her government has a lot in its in-tray. But the new Prime Minister must also recognise how vital access to the outdoors is to everyone's health and wellbeing.

We've outlined how Prime Minister Truss can improve access to nature for all.

Our priorities for the new Prime Minister

In 2020, just 57% of survey respondents across Great Britain told us they lived within five minutes of green space. This fell to just 39% for people from minority ethnic backgrounds and 46% for those with the lowest income.

Access to the outdoors is vital to everyone's health and wellbeing. And should be available to everyone, no matter where they live or what their walk of life. That's why we're calling on the new government to improve access by taking three key actions:

1. Creating a network of green routes in all towns and cities
2. Putting access to nature at the heart of government legislation
3. Expanding and improving the freedom to roam

Your continued support is crucial to making sure everyone has access to the outdoors. Please share these actions on Twitter or Facebook to make sure they're on the government's agenda.

We'll be in touch more over the coming months with the next steps for how you can get involved in these campaigns.

Together we can ensure that everyone can benefit from walking in nature,

Kind regards,

James MacColl

Head of Policy, Advocacy and Campaigns

Ramblers Charity England & Wales No: 1093577 Scotland No: SC039799

You are receiving this email because you have opted in to receive emails about Ramblers campaigns and the other great work we do (including fundraising, volunteering, local walks and footpath protection).

Unsubscribing will unsubscribe you from Ramblers emails or, if you have a Ramblers web account, you may prefer to update your mailing preferences on our website.

Please bear in mind it may take a couple of weeks for this unsubscribe to take place if you have already been selected for an email.

The Ramblers
1 Clink Street
3rd Floor
London

This email was sent to peg.456@virgin.net

why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

The Ramblers · 3rd Floor Soho Wharf · 1 Clink Street · London, London SE1 9DG · United Kingdom

This email has been scanned for spam & viruses. If you believe this email should have been stopped by our filters, click here to report it.